Mesa Tactical Offers Innovative Side-Mount Picatinny Rails For The Remington Model 870 Shotgun

Costa Mesa, CA – Mesa Tactical, manufacturer of professional grade tactical shotgun accessories, is excited to offer a unique line of Side-Mount Picatinny Rails for the Remington Model 870 shotgun.

Mesa Tactical's side mount rails emerged following discussions with law enforcement professionals who needed weapon lights mounted on specialized breaching shotguns used in very tight quarters. Traditional mounting locations wouldn't work, so the side mount rail was developed, which can be located on the left side of the receiver or on the right side, behind the ejection port. Machined from aircraft aluminum and hard anodized, the side mount rails are attached to the shotgun using the same innovative mounting method as employed by the Mesa Tactical SureShell shotshell carrier. In fact, shotguns can be configured with a SureShell carrier on one side of the receiver and a side mount rail (and light) on the other.

Aside from their use in breaching applications, receiver mounted weapon lights can also provide enhanced weight distribution and less bulkiness near the shotgun muzzle. Side mount rails for the Remington 12-gauge shotgun platforms retail for a suggested price of $60.00.
